THE TERRITORIES.

Nearly all the horses in Walla Walla have the epizooty.

The steamboat for Victoria carried 550 sheep from Olympia last Sunday night.

Agents and drummers for San Francisco merchants are swarming in the towns on Puget Sound.

The tract of land occupied as a garrison at Walla Walla is to be laid off into blocks and sold to settlers by the Government.

The prisoners in the Helena jail left their bed and board on the 30th ult. without informing any one of their proposed destination.

The first protestant church organized in the north part of Idaho Territory, was by Rev. W. J. Monteith at Lewiston a few days ago, Presbyterian.

Lewiston is to have a grand Gift Enterprise, $25,000 in money, houses and lands are to be distributed. The drawing to take place on the 4th of July next.

A bill is pending in the Montana Legislature, allowing certain counties to subscribe stock to railroad companies as follows: Lewis and Clarke, $400,000, Madison, $400,000; Jefferson, $250,000, Gallatin, $250,000; Meagher, $150,000.

It is reported that the Indians along the route of the stage lines, between Winnemucca and Boise City, and thence to the Dalles, Oregon, are very saucy and impudent, creating some alarm to the stage company, which has altogether some 1,400 miles of stage route, 1,000 of which is the long run daily.

Antonia Carriboo, aged 16, and his three sister, one a married woman, were drowned in Buffalo river, near Hawley station, on the Northern Pacific railroad, on the 28th ult. The boy, in trying to get a pail of water, slipped into the river, and the sisters were drawn in successively in trying to rescue those in the water.

The County Commissioners and some of the citizens of Chehalis county, have united in a petition to the Governor of Washington Territory for arms to be distributed among the inhabitants near Gray's Harbor. Also, some of the settlers on Black river have sent in a request to the Superintendent that the Indians on the Chehalis Reservation be disarmed.

The Helena, Montana, Herald of the 1st inst. has the following: Beyond our northern border the Blackfeet are reported to be on the war-path, the American traders in that region being particularly singled out for Indian hostility and vengeance. A Canada dispatch furnishes us with this item of news, and the prediction is added that a general Indian war is likely to occur.

Another body of a man was found floating in the waters of Snake river not far from Walla Walla a few days ago. He appeared to have been a small-built man, with dark beard, and a very low and retreating forehead. His pants were torn off at the knees. There was a hole in his forehead over the left eye, and another on the left side of the back of the head. He appeared to have been dead a long time, and his features could not be traced. The hair and skin were gone from his head, and some have surmised that he had been scalped.

The Walla Walla Statesman of the 10th instant says: T. J. McBride, who is just in from the northern country, informs us that since the 14th of February last, the country between the Wenatchee and Lake Chelan has not passed a single day free from an earthquake visitation. The shocks are accompanied by a rumbling noise, and for miles and miles the earth is rent asunder and great gulches formed, where previously the land was free from breaks. These terrible convulsions of nature strike terror to the hearts of the Indians, and instead of thinking about war, they have become pious and are strict in attending to their religious duties. Mr. McB. says that the part of the country subject to these constantly recurring convulsions is evidently undergoing a great change, and that the convulsions are of volcanic origin.

From the Tribune: One of the two big saw mills at Port Gamble is running night and day, and the other in the day only. Four vessels are loading there at this time, a very small number for that place. The Company's foreign orders are heavy, and their own mills have lately been unable to supply them. For this reason they have been obliged to buy cargoes at other places, and load their vessels there, as is now the case with the bark David Hoadley, at Port Ludlow. Their two tow-boats are constantly employed; the Cyrus Walker in the home shipping and logging business, and the Goliah in the foreign trade of Nanaimo and Barrard Inlet, the Bellingham Bay coal trade, and the towing of vessels from the Cape to Port Townsend. Quite a fleet of vessels have lately been sent away, and another is looked for soon.

HOW IS IT?—A married man cannot help thinking: That all the girls used to be in love with him; that all the widows are now; that if he were a widower he could marry again whenever he chose, that his wife is a little jealous; that she used to be a pretty girl; that his mother could make good bread: that his wife can not, that his mother-in-law may be a fine old lady, but—, that smoking never hurt a man yet; that his shirt buttons are grossly neglected.

Things a wife can not help thinking: That she was very pretty at sixteen; that she had, or would have had, a great many good offers; that all her lady friends are five years older than they say they are: that if her husband had acted on her advice he would be a rich man to-day; that her mother-in-law is a very trying woman; that her sister-in-law takes airs, and ought to be put down; that she would like to know where her husband spends his evenings when he stays out, that her servants are the worst ever known; that she has taste in dress; that she has a good temper, that she pities old maids.

A man named Harvey Wells, living at Mill wood Station, on the Erie and Pennsylvania railroad, went out on a hunt recently and succeeded in getting up a lively fox chase. The fox ran into a hollow log, and a dog followed. Both dog and fox were now lost to the hunter and, after blowing his horn and searching the woods in vain, he went home wondering what could have become of his faithful animal. Nine days afterward it happened that the master went to the hollow log, and, upon examining it closely, found his dog wedged inside. In his eagerness to catch the fox he had gone too far and could not retreat, and also made the fox a prisoner. The log was split open, and, strange to say, both dog and fox were found to be still alive, though very much emaciated and weak. The fox was permitted to go in peace, and the dog was kindly taken in the arms of his master, who took him home and doctored him with bread and meat until he regained his usual strength.

OREGON.

All the Sunday Schools of Salem will picnic in the grove near that city to morrow.

Col. Taggart and W. L. Adams, of this city, passed through La Grande last week.

Quite a number of cattle have died in Baker county from eating some kind of poisonous weed, but no one can tell what.

The upper Willamet is getting quite low. The Eugene Guard says "nothing larger than a wash basin could navigate it now."

The Circuit Court at Hillsboro will convene next Monday. Quite a number of civil cases are to be disposed of, but the Grand Jury will have light work this term.

The Deaf Mute School at Salem closed a term on last Tuesday. The proficiency of the pupils surprised the spectators who were present, and showed manifest good training. The next term will begin in September.

The Directors of the Summerville and Walla Walla Wagon Road Company have just returned from a review of the route from La Grande to the old Linkton road, on the summit of the Blue mountains, preparatory to beginning work on the same. They are highly pleased with the route, and will begin work to open the road in earnest on Monday, May 19th. They expect to have the road open for travel in two months.

The La Grande Sentinel says: "A volunteer company is being organized in the Wallowa valley, and every means will be adopted to repel the Indians in case they attempt to establish their claims. Also a company will be organized at Lewiston to co operate, if the emergencies require, with the one in the Wallowa. The settlers are fully determined, the instant the Indians make the slightest hostile demonstration, to push matters to a speedy and final crisis, and we may see lively times in the Wallowa in case the Indians break out."

A letter from the Wallowa valley, dated May 1st, says: "Our wheat and oats look well. We are now building a school house and want school to commence by the 1st of July. Families are coming into the valley every day, and there is room for a great many more that may want good homes. We are all going to stay here, and not leave our homes on account of the Indians; and if the Government see fit to give this valley to these greasy, dirty and impudent rascals, in less than twelve months there will not be an Indian to occupy it: the settlers will 'go for them.'"

The following is a list of the officers who have been duly installed in Columbia Lodge No. 181, I. O. G. T., of Columbia City, for the term ending August 1st, 1873: Mrs. L. M. Caples, W. C. T.; T. McFerob, W. R. H. S.; Edwin Merrill, W. H. F.; Mrs. C. L. Woods, W. V. T.; Mr. L. N. McEvers, R. S.; Miss M. E. Merrill, W. A. S.; Mrs. S. A. Johnson, W. F. S.; Mrs. J. Maxwell, W. T.; Mr. D. B. English, W. M.; Miss Annie Merrill, W. D. M.; Miss Martha Stehman, W. I. G.; Mr. John English, W. O. G.; Mrs. M. Caples, W. C.; Mrs. N. E. Moxee, P. W. C. T.

The Statesman tells of the following singular case: The family of the Italian, Louis Lorets, who was arrested a few days ago at Salem, are in destitute circumstances, living in a miserable house and in want of the commonest necessaries. The man seems to be of unsound mind, though ordinarily he is capable of eking out a scanty subsistence for his large family. With singular pride, the family, it is said, refuse the offers of assistance from their neighbors, and live in a state of semi starvation. Lorets represents himself as one of Garibaldi's patriots, and entertains the belief that his father has died, leaving him heir to an estate worth some two or three hundred thousand dollars. This lunacy, or whatever it may be, is probably at the bottom of the family pride, but it don't feed nor clothe the children.

INDIGNATION MEETING.

SHERIDAN, Yamhill Co., May 9, 1873.

Obedient to a call from four prominent citizens here and in the vicinity, the people assembled at one o'clock to express their sentiments in relation to the decision of the jury upon the case of Joseph Coxen, tried at the last term of the Circuit Court of Yamhill county, held at Lafayette, for the murder of Benjamin Hasbrook, on the evening of the 4th of February last, near the Willamina river.

Mr. B. Branson was called to the chair. Mr. Branson responded by stating the object of the meeting, and expressing his sympathy as a citizen of Polk county with those who were demanding justice against a criminal, whose guilt, it seemed to him, had been so clearly established.

C. W. Hughes was elected Secretary.

By motion, the Chair was authorized to appoint a committee to draw up resolutions expressing the sentiments of the people, and G. W. Branson, R. Orr, Wm. Chapman, Dr. Fields, J. H. Brown, J. H. Allyn and Thos. Graves were appointed such committee.

While the committee were absent Messrs. B. Branson and T. G. Simpson made short addresses to the audience.

The committee reported the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, Benjamin Hasbrook, a peaceable, honest and industrious citizen, was, on the evening of the 4th of February last, shamefully assassinated, and

WHEREAS, We believe it to be the duty of every citizen in the vicinity where the murder was committed to aid in investigating the matter, and, if possible, bring the guilty to justice; and

WHEREAS, J. Lamson and others did, at great self-sacrifice, investigate the matter, procure the arrest and aid in the prosecution of Joseph Coxen, the only one upon whom any trace of evidence of guilt could be found, and

WHEREAS, The prosecution produced an amount of testimony which was sufficient to carry conviction to the minds of all who heard it of his guilt, and

WHEREAS, Jurors to whom the case was submitted have expressed their belief, since the trial, that he did the killing and yet rendered a verdict of not guilty, therefore

Resolved, That this community sustain a great loss in the death of Benjamin Hasbrook, and that we sincerely deprecate the commission of such a crime in our midst.

Resolved, That J. Lampson and others are deserving of great credit for the promptness, vigilance and perseverance with which they engaged in the investigation and prosecution of the case. Believing that they were actuated by no personal motives; but simply by a desire to see the laws of our land vindicated, and the guilty party (whoever he might be) brought to justice.

Resolved, That while the officers of the county and State, who were in any manner engaged in the case, discharged their duties faithfully; it is a firm belief that the jurors to whom the case of Joseph Coxen was submitted, either misunderstood the instructions of the judge or they did shamefully betray the confidence reposed in them.

Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to furnish a copy of these resolutions and preamble to some of the leading State papers, with a request that all other State papers, the State papers of Iowa and the city papers of Chicago, Ill., copy.

The audience was next addressed by Judge Lamson, Rev A. H. Allyn, Rev. G. W. Branson, Dr. Fields and others. The speakers spoke of the character of the murder as unparalleled treachery, referred to the civil proceedings, to the conclusiveness of the evidence against the accused, to the verdict of the jury, and to the jeopardy of life if murderers were allowed to go unpunished. Judge Lamson was very highly commended for the active part which he had taken in the prosecution of the case. Mr. Handley was censured for harboring the accused after his trial. The audience were attentive and manifested great interest in the meeting. The new church, which was occupied by the meeting, was well filled. At the close of the meeting the resolutions were adopted and the meeting adjourned.

C. W. HUGHES, Secretary.

By Overland Telegraph.

EASTERN DATES TO MAY 14.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Polaris Expedition.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Secretary of the Navy said to-day that from all he could learn the Polaris would probably be able to reach some extreme northern port; but if, after allowing reasonable time, she should not do so, a vessel would be dispatched in that direction with the object of relief or of obtaining information. If possible, concerning her. The department will do all in its power for the safe transit of survivors of the expedition, it having been fitted out under direction of the department, and being still under its charge. The desire to have some prominent persons visit Washington is for the purpose of inquiring into all the facts connected with the expedition since it left the United States.

The President has recognized Gustave O'Harra Taaffe as Consul at San Francisco for Sweden and Norway, for California, Oregon, Washington and Alaska.

About the Next Chief Justice.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A special says the President expressed regret that the appointment of a chief justice would devolve on him, he would willingly shrink from the responsibility if he could. He further said he would appoint a man independent of political considerations, and one whom the lawyers of the country would indorse. In the meantime, he hoped his friends and political opponents in the country would give him their views upon the subject.

The Bar Association has appointed a committee to cooperate with any committee of the Bar in paying a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Chief Justice.

Wm Strong's Successor Appointed.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The President this morning appointed Jackson to represent the United States at the Vienna Exposition, vice General Van Buren, suspended.

EASTERN STATES.

The Stokes Case, and other Legal Intelligence.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Stokes was not resentenced to-day. His counsel says the question as to whether he will be resentenced by Court goes to the Court of Appeals.

There is yet no indictment against George Francis Train, and an early day will be fixed for his trial.

The counsel for sailor boarding house keepers stated in Court that if the charges were withdrawn, he would advise his clients to take out licenses.

The Louisiana Difficulty.

NEW ORLEANS, May 13.—Quiet now reigns in St. Martinsville. Col DeBlanc having accomplished his aim by showing to the world the inability of McLoog to sustain his power without aid of United States troops.

Fatal Accident.

MACON, Ga., May 13.—A scaffold at Mercer University fell this morning. John Rea, of Pulaski, and James Globe, of Chicago, were killed, and W. H. Proctor, Walton, White and Ed. Holt (colored) fatally injured.

Collision in New York Harbor.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The steamer Americus, while passing through Hell Gate to-day, came in collision with the steamer Hope, which runs between Blackwell's Island and Hart Island, cutting her into. Four men were drowned from the Hope. The Americus sustained very little damage.

The End of a Murderer.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., May 13.—Lockman, sentenced to be hanged on Thursday next, has given up all hope of escaping the gallows by starving himself to death, and now eats ravenously. He is as profane as ever and continues to sing light songs.

Tributes to the Late Chief Justice.

COLUMBUS, May 14.—The Constitutional Convention met this morning and adjourned out of respect to the memory of Chief Justice Chase. A meeting of the Ohio bar was then held. Judge Swan in the chair. Eulogies were pronounced by John H. Young, ex-Governor Dennison and George Hadley.

Journals of Capt. Hall.

NEW YORK, May 14.—In June, 1872, Hall before embarking on his voyage of exploration gave Capt. G. F. Hall deposited with the Secretary of State, a package marked C. F. Hall, care of Henry Grinnell. It was to be kept in their safe, with directions that if anything happened to him, it was to be delivered to Grinnell. The instructions of Capt. Hall were carried out last Monday. In the package, Grinnell found that it contained three books, containing a valuable memoranda in the form of a journal, kept by Capt. Hall when on his King William's Land expedition in search of Sir John Franklin. There are also notes of various Arctic explorations, for which he contemplated making a book. The journals contain much valuable information with regard to Arctic regions known only to Capt Hall.

Civil Rights Suit.

It is understood the colored people are developing for a new suit, to be held in Cooper Institute to take into consideration their rights under the law guaranteeing them full enjoyment in admission to theatres and other entertainments; also respect from hotel proprietors. The meeting is preliminary to the prosecution of Lester Wallack, whose agent denied colored men admission to his theater, on the ground that there was no room for them, and one Dixon, who keeps a restaurant, refused to serve three colored men at tables of his room.

Miscellaneous.

Capt. Williams, of the ill-fated Atlantic, sailed for England in the Oceanic to-day.

Philip Strauss, of Lexington Avenue, shot himself dead in his house yesterday. A few years ago his father left him $70,000, all of which he lost in unlucky business ventures and stock speculations.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Supreme Court, general term, to-day granted a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Tweed upon a stipulation by the defense to take the case at once to the Court of Appeals now in session.

Five of the Supreme Judges and the Judge of the Court of Appeals refused a stay of proceedings in the case of Nixon, to be hanged on Friday. Gov. Dix also declined to interfere, on the ground that the Judges have refused; also on the ground that the murder of Pfeiffer was cruel, unprovoked, perfectly brutal, and does not admit of any palliative feature. Nixon's counsel will go to the remainder of the 31 Supreme Court Judges, or to such of them as he can reach before the hour is carried into execution.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Terrible Calamity in a Colliery.

HALIFAX, May 13.—An explosion occurred to-day in the Drummond mine in Pictou. The overseer's manager, a night manager, and forty men are in the pit. The slope is on fire, and there are no hopes of rescuing the miners. Great anxiety is felt for the safety of the men. The explosion was heard for miles around, causing to the people for miles around consternation. Hundreds of people, mothers, wives, sisters, children and friends, crowded around the burning pit, running piteously over the melancholy fate of their beloved ones. Rescuing parties being formed as soon as heard of, attempts were made to rescue the men, but so far without success. The fire, up to this time, (9 P. M.) is still raging. Assistance from Pictou and New Glasgow is at hand, and strenuous exertions are being made to subdue the conflagration and rescue the buried men.

The Colliery Disaster.

HALIFAX, May 14.—News from the Drummond Colliery this morning represents the fire still raging in the shafts and slopes. All hopes of rescuing the buried men will be abandoned now. It is stated that there are sixty men in one pit. Another heavy explosion occurred in the mine about 2 o'clock this morning. It is thought to be almost impossible that any of the men in the pit can be living. Four or five got out before the explosion. The fire caught from a flask of gun powder, and the men refused to put out the flames. One reporter says Mr. Dunn and thirty men went down to assist in putting out the fire, about twenty minutes before the explosion occurred, at which time it is supposed that all the men were near the flames, and that many, if not all, were killed at once by the explosion.

Steamer Wrecked.

MONTREAL, May 13.—The steamer Rescue struck on a rock in Lachine Rapids last evening. There were on board one hundred and fifty passengers, all of whom were landed safely. The vessel is a wreck.

WEST INDIES.

HAVANA, May 12.—The Collector for the Cienfuegos Railroad, while on his way to make a deposit in a bank, was robbed of twenty thousand dollars by a thief, who snatched a package containing the money from his hands, and escaped.

The Insurgents attacked a train on the railroad and killed the commander of the Molino forces, two captains and a number of soldiers.

Effect of the Vienna Panic.

BERLIN, May 13.—The Bourses of the principal cities of Germany are extremely depressed in consequence of the panic in Vienna, and the Government, with a view to relief, will introduce a measure into the Diet for applying Prussia's share of the war contribution to the purchase of bills and public securities, to advance for accommodation of merchants and to redemption of debt for railway works.

From Madrid.

MADRID, May 13.—A Carlist conspiracy for the overthrow of the Republic, has been discovered in this city. Three of the conspirators have been arrested.

Condition of Pius IX.

ROME, May 13.—The Pope is very feeble. Yesterday he had a fainting fit which lasted an hour. To-day his condition is unchanged, showing excessive exhaustion. This is his eighty-first birthday. His Holiness was unable to give audience to deputations which called at the Vatican to tender congratulations.

Squally Times Ahead for Hyacinthe.

GENEVA, May 13.—The wife of Pere Hyacinthe has given birth to a boy.

From Paris.

PARIS, May 13.—General Admiral, Military Governor of Paris, has prohibited the sale of the Journal D'Etat.

The Khivan Expedition.

LONDON, May 14.—A dispatch from Calcutta yesterday says a Russian expeditionary force has occupied Dargher, a village near Khiva. The same dispatch reports that Abdot Rahman has been summoned to St. Petersburg.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—The execution of John Devine, for the murder of August Kemp, took place at the county jail at 1 P. M. to-day. Long before noon, a crowd of about 3,000 men, women and children, mobbed in front of the jail standing patiently, awaiting the hour of execution. The prisoner was in his cell with Father Montserrat Sheridan. None others were admitted except Judge Tyler, counsel for Devine, went to the jail, but the prisoner declined to see him. Tyler said Devine sent for him to call to the cell to see him. This morning he ate a hearty breakfast, and seemed to be in good spirits and cheerful. The scaffold was a slight platform across the main corridor. About 200 persons were admitted. At 1 P. M., Sheriff Ayres came from Devine's cell. He said the prisoner had made a special request that the people should keep perfectly still, and ask no questions. In a moment after, the cell door closed, and the way to the scaffold was opened. Devine emerged, holding a small crucifix, and ascended the platform, followed by Father Sheridan, and took his place on the fatal trap. He shut his eyes while the deputies pinioned his limbs and adjusted the rope. At a word from the priest, Devine opened his eyes and said, 'Sweet Jesus, into thy hands I come and my spirit.' The word was given, the trap fell, and in a few moments the struggles of Kemp and John Devine was dead. At the hour of execution, about 5,000 people were in front of the jail.

The Rock Island Mining Company was incorporated to-day, with a capital stock of $6,000,000, to operate at Gold Hill, Nev. The Trustees are H. G. Bristol, John A. Paul, Chas. Lund, C. E. Lund and S. B. Boswell.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, after the appointment of an Inspector of the dairy in the W. A. Farm, which was condemned, kept nothing since in sight. The milk is pure, and unadulterated food.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—The body of General Canby lay in state all day till 5 o'clock this afternoon, when the funeral services took place, according to prior announcement. The procession was an imposing one. The military escort, under special order to the Oakland Pier, and the remains taken over to that place. They will be taken to Indianola.

The Alta is unpublished. She has five days of coal on board. The mails will be delivered until to-morrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Devine made no public confession of his guilt, although the statement has been made that he had written one. If made, the confession was to Father Speckles, his spiritual adviser.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—Mortimer's execution took place between 12 and 1 o'clock to-day. He continues to act as though insane, but the Sheriff is satisfied that his insanity is feigned. He declines a jury to act in his case, as provided by the code.

COLFAX, May 14.—The body of master Tommy Cooke, the boy who was drowned from the river to-day, was found where he was last seen.

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—Public interest in the Mortimer case is almost unanimously as the fatal hour approaches when it is almost universally expected he will expiate his crime. He still maintains the most stoical indifference to all about him, and has not at any time since the inauguration of the preacher in this fearfully interesting drama. Mortimer's brother called at the jail with the intention of seeing him, but his fortitude forsook him, and he left, not being able to undergo the trying ordeal. Mr. Mortimer's counsel visited him this afternoon, urging upon him the utter folly of resisting aside this opportunity and preparing for the doom which is inevitably in store for him, but he received no sign or word of recognition. The scaffold has been completed, and will be ready to-morrow. Between 150 and 200 invitations to attend the execution have been issued to-day.

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—Mortimer's written confession, now being published, brings many hidden crimes to light, and explains the account of the Carolina Pet murder, the Chinese murder, and the Wiggins and Peck-Crane robberies.

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—Officers H. King and H. C. Deane, constables, made a raid on Brighton this evening, and arrested about 150 persons in the houses. This morning a jury was impaneled, and proceeded to the jail to inquire into the murderous assault on Officer Mortimer. The Sheriff has not yet returned with the jury.

In the Superior Court Conolly vs. The City and County of San Francisco, Judge E. W. Story, has been argued, and submitted to the Court, which is still in session.

The Pope's Illness.

THE LATE

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 15, 1873.

The Last Victim.

Captain C. F. Hall is another victim to the mania for the explorations of the North Polar Sea. How many have been his predecessors, it would be difficult to state. From about 1825 down to the present time—about half a century, this North Pole business has been the only thing left for adventurers, with the exception the sources of the Nile, and of this latter, Dr. Livingstone has long had a valid caveat, if not an exclusive and permanent franchise. The number of persons that met untimely and unnatural deaths, in the two expeditions of Sir John Franklin and the many that have gone in search of him, and those who have contracted diseases through the exposure incident to these voyages, which carried them off after their return, is greater than any one will suppose, who has not given the subject more than a passing thought.

It is all right, we dare say. These persons like adventure, and might be of little account in the world, unless engaged in spinning out the thread of their life on this particular spindle. And then, too, it is in the interest of science that these expeditions are undertaken, and science is a thing to be encouraged. But after all, we venture to question whether, at the ordinary estimate of human life, the discovery of a Northwest passage which could not be traversed by ships, or the demonstration of the existence of an open polar sea, without any shores except icebergs, would so greatly advance the commerce of the world as to compensate for the loss of all these lives, or whether the scanty addition to geographical knowledge, which these discoveries would make, superadded to the commercial advantages above alluded to, would make the score quite even. We are aware that in a scientific point of view the discovery of a new point of rocks on some barren coast, or the finding of a small, uninhabitable island in the midst of an unnavigable sea, is a matter of immense importance, and that a score of lives, more or less, expended in the effort which finally brings these tremendous facts to light, are a trifling price to pay for such results. Well understanding these important truths, and knowing that trips to the frozen zone are just the thing, because the world has said so, we have not a word to say against them. But if we felt just as we have an idea that a very large proportion of sensible people feel upon the subject, we should say there had been foolishness enough, and quite a sufficient amount of suffering, in connection with this bootless enterprise.

Another Coal Mine Horror.

The telegraph reports another roasting of coal miners. This time it is at the Drummond Colliery in Nova Scotia. Sixty men being in the mine, an explosion of a can of gun-powder set the walls on fire, and after every possible effort to rescue the men, they are abandoned to their fearful fate. Sixty men roasting alive, because there is only one way to escape, and that way is a passage of fire.

First from Wales, then from Lackawanna, from New Castle-on-Tyne, and now from Nova Scotia. Sixty men here, thirty there, and seventy at another place. So the horrible story is rung to and over and over again, while humanity keeps on protesting in vain. There may be such a thing as an unavoidable burning to death of the laborers in a coal mine, but it has not the opinion, freely expressed by competent engineers, and without the single dissenting voice so far as we have observed, that the great fires of the last few years, with all their heart-sickening horrors, were so connected with mismanagement in working the mines, or unmitigated disregard of human life in neglecting suitable provisions for the escape of the men in the pits in case of accident, as not to be deemed as avoidable. The parsimony that cuts a mine with only one avenue for escape is criminal. The demand of the Mine Inspector of England, a few months ago, for government interference to protect the lives of the miners in the coal mines, was echoed by the journals of this country pretty generally, but the demand seemed to be passed upon the attention of the public, but the excitement of a race to the city had abated. The necessity of action, in this direction, is again made painfully apparent in this Nova Scotia horror.

"Stand By, My Boy."

Some brilliant genius who has been inventing a plan for the annihilation of Captain Jack, of the lava bed, writes the New York Herald that it may be supplied with a number of Lucas lights to throw a circle of light 500 yards broad around the Modoc encampment. By this means the soldiers can all fall to work in the dark, while the Modocs will not dare to venture into the circle of light to be picked off by the soldiers. This is a brilliant conception, but it is pretty well anticipated by the last advance, so to speak, "the area of that circle of light, that is, at the time the Indians would be completely within its radius!" The suggestions are admirable. One important feature, however, has been omitted:—wouldn't it be well to contract with this strategist for whitewashing Captain Jack's cave and the surrounding lava bed, that by its more perfect reflective power? We would suggest the manufacture of hand dredges with the kalsomine might be squirted over the coveted regions.

An eye-witness tells of a physician of Greenville, South Carolina, who treats cerebro-spinal meningitis after this (rebion): He bathes the head with spirits of turpentine, and then passes over it a well-heated smoothing iron for fifteen minutes. All this while the patient is smoking his cigar with a large dose of quinine, interspersed with heroic doses of bromide of potassium. The monotony of this treatment is occasionally relieved by glasses of invigorating doses of solid extract of hyoscyamus, varied by appreciable quantities of whisky. This treatment looks more of the vigor of the old practice, and it comes up to the sufferer the delightful alternative of dying or getting well in self-defense.

The middles of Williston Seminary, Massachusetts, have secured to themselves, their heirs and assigns forever, the inalienable right to wear tall hats, undisturbed by belligerent seniors. Which means that in the last annual "rush," in April, the seniors got "gloriously licked." The much-abused Fresh has always had the sympathy of the civilized world, and no one will weep to read that in the recent fracas two tyrannous seniors were carried home on window-shutters.

In his lectures on the United States, Prof. Tyndall tells the people of England that in 5,000 years our magnificent Niagara Falls will exist only in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Our Asiatic Neighbors.

The influence of Western civilization upon Asiatic people during the past few years has been by no means confined to Japan. The immense strides that nation has made since the overthrow of the Tycoonate, have so attracted the attention of Christian countries, that the progress of other Asiatic communities has been overlooked to a great extent. China is rapidly freeing herself from her ancient superstition, and many of the debasing practices that have prevailed in India are abandoned. The widow is no longer permitted to burn upon the funeral pile of her dead husband, and the female children are nurtured the same as in Christian lands, instead of being cast into the Ganges. With the abolition of the practice of suttee, or the burning of widows, comes a very marked improvement in the prevalent ideas of woman's relation to the family and to society, and a consequent elevation of her position. In many other respects, only less marked because in relation to less marked subjects, the tone of public and private morals in India is reported as showing great advancement.

This giving way of the superstitions and customs of long standing, has been brought about mainly—we might say wholly—through outside pressure. It was only less than compulsion that opened the doors of those exclusive peoples to admit the commerce of the Christian world; but when that came, superadded to the efforts of the missionaries, the problem of the ultimate liberation of the Asiatic mind was already solved. For no people can long sustain extensive commercial relations with the Western nations without absorbing more or less of the free spirit of these nations. And that spirit breaks no such restraints as the pagan rites of the Asiatics impose. Commerce and religion have gone hand in hand to liberate these peoples from a bondage that is the more deplorable because they are unconscious of it, and the result of the few years that have elapsed since the first efforts were made in this direction, is a demonstration that the overthrow of systems of error thousands of years old, by Christian civilization is not only possible, but is the task of a comparatively brief period. The progress of the last two decades, if continued, will hardly leave at the close of the present century a vestige of the system of pagan slavery that has held the minds of the most populous nations of the earth in chains.

When the day of enlightenment shall fully break upon all those vastly peopled countries, what will be the effect upon our commerce? Exactly what, no one can tell, only this, that it can not fail to pour into the lap of America, and especially the Pacific coast of America, more wealth than all our combined commerce now brings us. In times past the trade of the East has been enjoyed to a great extent by nations that had managed to obtain exclusive control of it, and as has been truly said, no nation ever possessed that trade that was not enriched by it. So will it be with America, except that in all probability the truth will be more apparent in our case by so much as we have the advantage over all other nations in geographical position. Not only can we secure a practical monopoly of this trade by reason of our easier access, but by the same reason will it be a source of greater wealth to us.

John Chinaman is not, in our opinion, a desirable acquisition to American population; and we could state very many sufficient reasons for this view, both of a financial and of a moral character. He is a Chinaman after he gets here as much as he was a Chinaman at home, and the habits and ideas of a Chinaman stick closely enough to him to make him an unpleasantly ally and a disagreeable competitor. Socially and morally he is an outside barbarian, and financially he is a mere absorbent, a sponge that comes here empty, and as soon as filled with the wealth of the country goes back to the Flowery Kingdom. But John's presence among us is only a bad feature of a greatly beneficent fact. The only way for America to possess herself of the splendid commerce of Asia was opened through the same series of circumstances that has peopled this coast with so numerous a force of the "heathen Chinee." We would be better off without these people now, and for a long time, at any rate. But we would not be better off without the trade of their country.

Modoc News.

The news from the seat of war is interesting. The Modocs seem to be getting into a close place, and it looks now as if there were some prospect of the tide of prosperity setting against them as strongly as it has hitherto set against the troops operating against them. It is to be hoped the end is near. The result of the last battle was favorable to the Indians so far as the number of casualties is concerned, but the position of affairs at the front, in other respects, appears more cheerful for our forces.

Burgess, who went out to the Klamath in pursuit of Bogus Charley, has returned to Yreka, having interviewed the Modoc hero, but not having captured him. In humble imitation of the Peace Commissioners, he accepted an invitation to meet Charley unarmed, and through good luck got away again without harm. Bogus Charley has a fine story to tell about his innocence of the Canby massacre, and his desire to live peaceably with the world henceforth. If there is any confidence to be reposed in what he says Jack and his band will be compelled to give up the struggle soon, and either surrender or attempt to escape into the mountains, when they can have a little leisure time in which to provide themselves a supply of food.

Chief Justice Chase died an easy death, suffering no pain. The first cause of death is stated by his physicians to have been a rupture of one of the cerebral arteries, the violent rush of blood burrowing, as it were, through the texture and substance of the brain. Paralysis of the left side followed. The Chief Justice was quietly sleeping when the blood-vessel burst, flooding and terribly bruising the brain. The immediate cause of death was compression of the brain.

A London dispatch says that John Stuart Mill died of phlegmonous erysipelas. It terminated fatally on the third day after its appearance, closing the passages of the throat.

We are informed by the agent of Fowler & Slocum of New York, that the firm will probably resume business very soon, and that if they should not do so the orders that have been sent from this coast to their house for goods and which have not yet been filled, will probably be filled by another New York house, so the merchants of Puget Sound and other places on this coast who have sent orders may have no trouble about getting their goods, notwithstanding the suspension of the firm.

Senator Mitchell's numerous friends are happy to see him back at his home, and measurably recovered from the severe illness he suffered at San Francisco.

Salem, Generally and Particularly—The Albany Firemen's Picnic.

SALEM, May 13, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As the spring advances the country increases in beauty and attractions, and the hopes of farmers brighten at the prospect that their labor will not be in vain. The season, so far, is remarkably favorable for grass, fall and spring wheat; an abundant harvest is anticipated.

SALEM,

At this season of the year, has many attractions for residents and visitors. The Salem prairie could not be easily surpassed for a picture of rural beauty, rich soil, cultivated farms, comfortable residences and grand mountain scenery for a background. Choice farms on this prairie and convenient to the city sell from $50 to $100 an acre. Mr. M. L. Savage has a farm of 1,000 acres, two miles from town, for which he would not take less than $75,000. Inferior lands, less cultivated and not so favorably located, can be had all the way down to $2 an acre. The city has a charming appearance just now. The profusion of shade trees, the neat cottages, the elegant houses, surrounded with highly cultivated gardens, embracing such a variety of flowers, plants and fruit trees indicate good taste and refined culture on the part of the people.

THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS OF SALEM

Are worthy of the capital city of the State. The Willamette University with its popular President, efficient staff of literary, scientific and medical professors, and 269 students, is worthy of the liberality, zeal and missionary spirit of the M. E. Church that it represents. The Sisters' School, almost completed, is a large, fine building in harmony with the good taste, excellent order and strict discipline of these benevolent ladies. Both these institutions show what great things can be accomplished when the leaders are single minded and in earnest.

The new Court House is the finest building of the kind in the State and when completed will cost $180,000.

The church buildings are numerous, central, comfortable and the majority of them well attended. The plan of the

NEW CAPITAL BUILDINGS

Will be decided on this week, and work commenced immediately after. From the plans submitted to the Commissioners and to be seen in their office, it is obvious that the Capital buildings will be every way worthy of the State and the liberality of the Legislature in making appropriations. The first appropriation is $100,000; the convict labor will amount to a saving of as much. It will take probably four years to complete the buildings, and will likely cost, when finished, $500,000. The site is central, elevated, and in the most desirable part of the city to give effect to what will be the most tasteful public building of the kind on the Pacific coast.

A VISIT TO THE PENITENTIARY

Will well repay those who take an interest in such institutions. The building is completed little more than a year. It cost $107,000 in cash; the convict labor was valued at $57,000, making the total amount $164,000. The building is of brick, made by the prisoners. The approaches, the grounds, the finish, and the general appearance of the place are more like a gentleman's castle than a prison. The internal arrangements for the accommodation, comfort, health, intellectual and moral improvement and safety of the prisoners are almost everything that could be desired. The State owes a large debt of gratitude to Governor Grover for this institution. He took a deep interest in the plans, construction and completion. Mr. W. H. Watkinds is the competent and efficient Superintendent. The discipline of the prison is almost perfect. The farm consists of 160 acres, and is being brought under good cultivation by the prisoners. The old Penitentiary buildings are being repaired and fitted up for workshops for the prisoners on an extensive scale. A large ditch is being cut by the prisoners, 5,600 feet long, 20 feet wide at the bottom and 28 feet at the top, to bring the water from Mill creek to run the machinery of these workshops. The water in the ditch will be four feet deep, having 15 feet of a fall; that will drive 125 horse power by means of one of Leffel's turbine water wheels. Wagons, buggies, woodware of all kinds, boots, shoes, clothing, leather, and a variety of other useful articles will be manufactured by the prisoners. Governor Grover exercises the pardoning power with proper discrimination. Superintendent Watkinds knows how to encourage the well disposed prisoners, and when to be firm and decided with the turbulent and vicious. Provision is made in the plan of the building for extending it when required. There are 86 cells, with two beds in each. Some of the inmates have their cells ornamented with pictures, and wild flowers gathered when working on the farm. Quite a number are great readers and have access to the prison library, consisting of 600 volumes, presented by the people of Salem. There are 96 prisoners in the Penitentiary at present; 53 of these committed their crimes when drunk; 26 from the indirect effects of strong drink; 6 of them were men of sober habits, and 11 of them are Chinamen and Indians, committed for theft or burglary.

Of the 79 who committed crimes from the effects of strong drink, either directly or indirectly, 28 were against the person and 51 against the property. To punish crime and reform the criminal is a great work to accomplish—for the individual and for society; but to devise ways and means to prevent crime is a nobler work still. The general use of strong drink is the main source of the world, and has filled it with sin and sorrow, crime and misery. Dry up this source of innumerable evils and the long desired millennium of peace and happiness will speedily follow.

THE DEAF AND DUMB SCHOOL

Is one of the interesting benevolent institutions of Salem. There are 21 pupils in attendance in different stages of progress. Prof. Smith, himself deaf and dumb, is every way competent for his duties and responsibilities. The school is not more than two years in existence; four of the scholars had previous training; the majority of them got their first lessons here within the last six or twelve months; their progress is most gratifying, and their appearance is bright and cheerful. Moral and religious instruction get their proper place in the school. The discipline and education of the children have produced most salutary effects on their conduct in the school, toward each other and at home. The pupils are from different parts of the State, and all board in the establishment. Those whose parents can afford it, pay a moderate sum, but the great majority of the children are educated and boarded free. The Legislature made an appropriation of four thousand dollars for the support of the school for the current year, but that amount is quite inadequate for the object. The building is an old rickety house for which a smart rent is paid that smells something like a "job." The dormitories are very inferior and kept in a slovenly manner. The matron may be a fine young woman, but she is a poor housekeeper. If some of the benevolent ladies of Salem would occasionally visit the institution, and take an interest in it, a much needed reform would soon be the result in the sleeping apartments of the children. Rev. Mr. Knight takes an active part in promoting the interests of the school. Judge Chadwick, the Secretary of State, may be considered its founder, patron and best friend. The institution was in a good building, a competent matron, and the Legislature should appropriate ample funds, not only for the number of pupils at present in attendance, but for the remaining sixty other mutes in the State that are totally uneducated. By so doing, they would follow in the footsteps of the Great Teacher, who gave hearing to the deaf, speech to the dumb and sight to the blind. It is reported that some gentleman in Salem has offered a gift of four lots for the erection of a suitable building. This is an institution that commends itself to the favorable consideration of every intelligent mind and benevolent heart.

THE GENERAL BUSINESS

Of the city is quiet, money is scarce and collections are difficult. The principal stores in the dry goods and grocery trade are active and selling much the usual quantity of spring goods, but payments are very light. The lumbering trade, hardware stores and all business connected with house building, is more than usually dull, although it promised in the early part of the year to be unusually active. The cancelling of many orders for buildings and improvements is said to be caused by the uncertainty of the titles made by the late Dr. Wilson to a large number of bona fide purchasers. The heirs of the Doctor claim that by some legal technicality these titles are forfeited, based a late decision of Judge Deady. A competent judge says that "the love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith and pierced themselves through with many sorrows." To make $20,000 by such a shot as a legal quibble, is a great "temptation and a snare" for this class of people; but the moral consequences are not to be disregarded. One thing is certain, improvements on this property are brought to a stand for the present.

THE WILLAMETTE WOOLEN MANUFACTURING CO.

Is working full time. Under the manage'nt of Mr. Hoyt, the goods made in this establishment have reached a high standard of quality and are favorably known in Portland, San Francisco and the Eastern markets. It is one of the institutions that does credit to its early founders, the present Board of Directors and its manager. It is an example of the inestimable value of the water power of the State and the unusual facilities for the profitable investment of capital in manufactures.

THE SALEM FLOURING MILL,

Owned by R. C. Kinney & Son, is working night and day to fill an order for 1,000 tons of flour for the firm of Quong Yong Keer, of San Francisco, for China by the ship Parisian. This vessel will arrive at Portland in a short time, where she will load this flour, 600 tons of lumber and take 50 Chinamen as passengers. The flour manufactured by this mill is equal to the best made in the United States. It is well and favorably known in the best markets from Oregon to London, from Kansas to China, and commands the highest price at all these remote points. The mills present a scene of great activity, and the numerous wagons arriving daily with wheat, show what a large quantity there is still in the hands of the farmers of the Willamette valley. The wheat market here is firm at 75 cents a bushel, with the reasonable probability of an advance in price.

THE SALEM BAG FACTORY,

Owned by L. Cheesbrough & Co., is working fourteen hours a day to fill the orders that are crowding them all the time. They have a contract for 40,000 flour bags from R. C. Kinney & Son. The work is so well done and on such reasonable terms that they are cutting down importations rapidly. The sewing machines are driven by water power, which is a great source of speed, labor and economy, and enables the Company to compete successfully for the trade. The manufacture of wool bags and grain sacks will be in operation in time for the clip and harvest, both of which will be made on as low terms as any on the Pacific coast. This firm and Mr. C. H. Kester's similar establishment at Oregon City, are now able to supply the wants of the Willamette valley, and with what is made in Portland, there are facilities for meeting the wants of the State.

The manufactoire of wagons, buggies, carriages, furniture and agricultural implements of various kinds, is making great progress in Salem. It is one of the hopeful signs of the times for the future of the State when the timber, minerals, wool, skill, enterprise and capital of the State will be largely concentrated for the encouragement of home manufactures and home industries of all kinds, and thereby stop the many leaks made by importations of what could be manufactured in Oregon.

THE ALBANY FIREMEN'S PICNIC

to day, which I was in time to witness, was one of the most successful that ever took place in Albany. It was held in Hackleman's grove, about a mile from town. The fire company is composed of about fifty as fine looking men as there are in the town. The Corvallis Fire Company attended in a body by invitation. Both companies were dressed in full holiday attire, and looked remarkably well. The procession formed in front of the Court House shortly after nine o'clock. It was headed by the Albany Brass Band, and marched through the main street in excellent order. The students of the college, the children of the public schools, a great number of citizens and influential families from almost every town and district in the county took part in the procession. The sun was inefficiently veiled with clouds to prevent undue heat. The grove is one of the most appropriate in the county for such a purpose. It commands a view of the valley and mountain scenery that is charming, and extends for seventy miles. At 12 o'clock there were at least 1,500 persons on the grounds, composed of representatives from the most respectable families in town and country. The arrangements were excellent, the order was all that could be desired, and the enjoyment was great. Instrumental and vocal music, an oration by M. V. Brown, Esq., of the Democrat, an address by Rev. Mr. Nesbitt, of Corvallis, the attentions of Mr. I. R. Herry, the President, Mr. Joseph Webber, the Foreman, and the other members of the committee and Marshals, were most satisfactory. Before and after lunch various games and amusements were freely indulged in to the heart's content of the young people.

In the evening a grand ball was given in the new hall, in which 200 took part. An excellent supper was provided in the engine room of the fire company. The thirteenth day of June, 1873, will be long remembered by the persons who participated in the happy enjoyment of this day. The fact that the fire company was able to attract such a large number of influential friends from all sections of the county spoke well for the character of the members, and for their efficiency as firemen at the post of duty.

NORTHWEST.

The Vienna Exposition.

The New York Herald of May 2d comes to us with letters from John Russell Young, who takes an American view of the Vienna Exposition; Edmund Yates, who takes a British view; Louise Muhlbach, whose views we have not as yet translated; and Berthold Auerbach, who, from the verdant depth of the Black Forest, writes a ponderous didactic essay on what the Herald is pleased to term "the true philosophy of the great event which attracts the attention of the whole world." The two latter letters are printed in elegant German text. The fourth page of the quadruple sheet is occupied by a huge map of the Prater, showing the ground plan and location of the Exhibition buildings.

John Russell Young, in his description of the opening ceremonies, says: "The American department is closed, and looks battered and dingy, like an abandoned railway town on the plains." And again: "Over the different wings of the gigantic edifice the flags of all nations fluttered in the winds and mingled their colors in friendly contrast, our own, as seemed fit, considering recent events, Union down."

At a meeting of the Centennial Commission held in Philadelphia, May 8th, it was decided to urge upon the Board of Finance "the necessity of at once making efforts to raise the large amount of money necessary to make the Exposition a success. Which means that Philadelphia wants the universal Yankee nation to pungle.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 15, 1873.

CITY.

LARGE STEAM PLOW.—Some months ago the fact was alluded to in the columns of the OREGONIAN, that our enterprising and public spirited fellow townsman, R. R. Thompson, had purchased a steam plow, which he intended to introduce shortly on his farm in Yamhill county. This plow was purchased of the firm of John Fowler & Co., London, through the house of Messrs. Janion & Rhodes, of this city. The order was forwarded at once, and the plow, with all the machinery, gearing, boilers, engines, etc., attached, was shipped on the British bark Vesta, which sailed from Liverpool for Portland on the 12th of April. In size and working capacity, this steam plow will be one of the largest on the Pacific coast. Mr. Thompson, by his enterprise, deserves the credit of being the pioneer in this agricultural innovation, it being the first steam plow introduced into the State. The introduction of this steam plow in Oregon is not only in a measure experimental, but will involve the outlay of a large amount of money. Inclusive of the purchase price, duty, insurance and freight charges, it will cost in the vicinity of $20,000 to put the plow in operation. Plow, boiler and machinery equal in all to about 100 tons and consist of 46 large packages. The large gang of plows will be drawn to and fro across the field by portable steam engines, each of 14 horse power, stationed on opposite sides, by means of a powerful iron cable. Three months will be required for the bark Vesta to arrive here. On account of the complication of the plan some time will be required to put it in operating condition. Everything will be ready by early the coming fall.

PLANS ACCEPTED.—A dispatch was received from Salem, yesterday, by Messrs. Krumbein & Gilbert, architects, of this city, informing them that their plans for the State Capitol buildings had been accepted by the Board of Commissioners. Six plans, in all, we believe, were submitted to the Board—one from parties at Salem, three from California, and one from Indiana. All who saw admit that the one submitted by our Portland architects was the best, by far, and it seems the Board was of the same opinion. The building, when erected from these plans, will certainly be a very fine structure, and a monument of the skill of the firm who planned it. Messrs. K. & G. may justly feel proud of their triumph in competition with the architects of other and much pretentious communities.

ON THE WAY.—The British bark Hermine, which sailed from Liverpool on the 12th of January will soon be due at this port. This vessel is owned with a large assorted cargo of freight consigned to Messrs. Janion & Rhodes. The British bark Vesta is also on the way here, having sailed from Liverpool on the 12th of April. The Vesta has on board a large quantity of farming implements, besides a miscellaneous cargo. She may be expected here in a few months. Besides these two vessels, another bark, the Esther, is on the north at Liverpool. She will sail sometime during the present month, for Portland via Victoria. This bark comes consigned to the firm of Janion & Rhodes.

WILL BE REPAIRED.—A considerable quantity of tops, bolts, oakum, etc., was taken away yesterday on the schooner Katie Heron. The material will be used in repairing the schooner Mila Bird which was stranded some months ago off Tillamook Head. This vessel is present lies high and dry," but her owner, Capt. Paul Corse, will cause the craft to be thoroughly rebraced and recaulked, the dismantled rigging replaced, after which, she will be launched. Notwithstanding the Mila Bond had received rough usage from the sea, she is said to be staunch, and with necessary repairs can be set afloat in a seaworthy condition.

THE EXCURSION.—The scholars connected with the Catholic Sunday-schools of the city will hold their annual picnic to day at the mouth of the Sandy river. The splendid steamer Annie Stuart has been chartered, and will leave the foot of Alder street at 8 o'clock A. M. For the accommodation of excursionists the steamer will make three trips to the ground. The East Portland band will accompany the excursion. We are requested to state that should the day prove very inclement the picnic will be postponed for one week.

FOR THE SOUND.—By the steamer Rescue Troup left here yesterday afternoon, 190 head of cattle and 22 head of cattle were shipped to the ranch in Kalama. This stock is to furnish the installs of our neighbors "over the way." As an Olympia paper stated a few days since, Oregon is the Washington Territory with excellent beef, and the latter sends the former immense quantities of fish and delicious bivalves, and a fair exchange of such useful commodities involves no loss.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—A woman named Mary Kelly was arrested yesterday by the police on a complaint charging her with the larceny of $30. Soon after her arrest, she swore out a complaint against one Joe Perry, accusing him of being the culpable party in the matter. Perry was taken into custody last evening. The case, with its complex features, will come up for trial in the Police Court this morning.

[illegible].—Lower portions of Flanders' have already been submerged, and at the present rate at which the Willamette is coming up, the first floor of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company's wharf will have to be abandoned, and freight discharged and received from the steamers. On Tuesday night the water was within [illegible] inches, and only lacks three feet of covering the [illegible] wharf.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.—Mr. S. G. Reed received [illegible] ago a lot of agricultural implements for his large farm situated in Washington county, [illegible] England. These implements consisted of a zig zag harrow, a chain harrow, [illegible] and a broad-cast sowing machine, with all the latest improvements. All these implements were landed from the bark Hesperus, which can be expected [illegible].

OREGON AND THE DALLES.—Commencing on Monday, 19th inst., the steamer Rescue Troup will leave Portland for The Dalles daily (except Sunday) at 6 o'clock P. M. This boat will leave Kalama at one o'clock P. M. Thus between Portland and Olympia will be reduced to 14 hours. Passengers leaving Portland at 6 A. M. arrive at Olympia at 2 P. M.

ROAD SCRAPERS.—A gang of men began excavating on Monday last at the corner of A and Fifth streets, for the purpose of making room for a building which is soon to be erected there. The intention is to erect at that place a brick building which will be used jointly as offices for the Western Union Telegraph Company and Wells, Fargo & Co.

SUPPOSED INSANE.—A man named Collins was found last evening on the streets by the police [illegible] himself in a strange and disconsolate condition. From his actions, he was thought to be insane, and was lodged temporarily in the city jail. His mental condition will soon be inquired into by the proper authorities.

"ODDS AGAINST THE WORLD."—It is acknowledged by all that the "Do Little" shows a record unequaled in the history of sewing machines; [illegible] of operation," simplicity, quietness, [illegible] ease or ease of shoes; self adjusting [illegible] stitch, straight needle, extension [illegible] and tucks. Call and see them.

FOR TILLAMOOK.—The little schooner Katie Heron was towed down to the sawmill below the city [illegible], where a quantity of lumber was taken on board. Yesterday the steamer Mary [illegible] the schooner in tow, bound for Tillamook.

ARRIVAL.—The steamship Ajax arrived at Astoria at 7 o'clock from San Francisco. The Ajax brought 90 cabin, 80 steerage passengers and over 300 tons of assorted cargo.

FOR THE TOWN.—The regular term of the Circuit Court for Multnomah county will convene on the first Monday of June.

RECEPTION OF SENATOR MITCHELL.

On Monday last the announcement was made that Mr. Holladay's steamer E. N. Cooke would leave the Steamship Company's dock at 5 o'clock on Tuesday evening, having on board a number of our citizens who had been invited. The Cooke was to proceed down the river until the Ajax was met. The object of the excursion was to formally receive Senator Mitchell, and to tender the customary welcome to that honorable gentleman on his safe return to the State. Printed invitations, issued expressly for the occasion, were sent to a number of persons, desiring their attendance on the excursion. About fifty, persons accepted the invitations and repaired to the wharf and embarked on board the steamer. Considerable delay followed in completing the arrangements, so that the Cooke did not leave the wharf until nearly 7 o'clock P. M. The Aurora Band had been engaged for the trip and lent spirit and animation to the occasion by their sweet strains of music. Three hours of steaming brought the Cooke to Kalama, she arriving at that point at 10 o'clock. The following are some of the principal gentlemen who accompanied the excursion: Capt. Chas. A. Nowell, late editor of the Oregon Herald, Ben Holladay, Esq., Dr. J. A. Chapman, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee; H. W. Scott, of the Bulletin, Collector of Customs for this port; Geo. E. Cole, lately appointed Postmaster of Portland; W. L. Higgins, Superintendent of Construction for the new Custom House; O. B. Gibson, lately appointed to the office of Collector of Internal Revenue. D. J. Malarkey, Gauger and Weigher at the Custom House; Col. Biggs and L. E. A. Shaw, Clerks at the Custom House; M. Crawford, U. S. Appraiser; J. P. Ward, U. S. Deputy Collector of Customs; M. F. Mulkey, City Attorney, Jas. Lotad, U. S. Inspector of Boilers; W. H. Harris, County Clerk; O. N. Denny, Police Judge; J. M. Caywood, County Sheriff; Hon. J. F. Caples, late member of the Legislature, and others of our citizens.

After remaining at Kalama a short time the Cooke started down the river with the intention of meeting the Ajax. She proceeded about four miles, and seeing nothing of the ocean steamer, returned to Kalama, where the night was passed. Most of the persons on board put up at the Kazano House. Yesterday morning, at 7 o'clock, the Cooke again started down the river from Kalama. When opposite Hume's Fishery, the Ajax hove in sight. As soon as the two vessels touched, Senator Mitchell and his family, together with a few friends, came on board the river steamer. Mr. D. J. Malarkey delivered the reception speech to the Senator. He concluded his address by proposing the following toast: "To the health of Senator Mitchell," which was responded to by Hon. J. F. Caples. When Mr. Caples had concluded his remarks, the following toast was proposed: "To the health of Ben Holladay," to which Mr. Charles A. Newell, late editor of the Herald, came forward and responded. With these formalities the reception concluded. These preliminaries were supplemented with a choice lot of champagne, wine, whisky and cigars, in which all present indulged freely. A most pleasant and convivial time was experienced, and the best of good feeling prevailed. Soon after the Ajax was met the Cooke, with Senator Mitchell and his friends on board, started for Portland, where she arrived yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. While the steamer, with Mr. Mitchell on board, was nearing the wharf a salute was fired in honor of his safe and speedy return to the State which had conferred such distinguished honors on him. After landing the Senator was escorted to a carriage, which was then driven up Front street to the St. Charles Hotel. In the vehicle were seated, besides Mr. Mitchell, Ben Holladay, C. N. Denny and D. J. Malarkey. The band followed the carriage discoursing sweet music. The reception was indeed a very flattering one, and must have been very gratifying to the Senator.

PERSONAL.

Ex-Governor Salomon, Gen. Babbitt and wife, were among the passengers who arrived last evening on the Ajax.

S. A. Clarke, of Salem, leaves that place today for the lava beds, under an engagement with a New York paper as special correspondent.

The item published a few days since to the effect that Col. W. W. Chapman had gone to Vienna to attend the Worlds' Exposition, is incorrect. Col. Chapman, we are informed is on his way home, and may be expected in a few days.

The Pittsburgh Leader of April 30th gives the following send off: "Charley Myers leaves on Monday next for Portland, Oregon, where he goes to reside. Mr. W. C. Hoyt, his former partner, presented him with a Winchester rifle, saying: 'Charley, the time has arrived when you are about to leave your native home. Take this rifle, go among the Modocs, and exterminate the first one you meet.'"

Mr. Augustus Laver, of the firm of Fuller & Laver, Albany, N. Y., arrived from San Francisco yesterday, of which place Mr. Laver is a resident, and immediately telegraphed to the Building Commissioners that he had plans for the State Capitol, and would leave at the first opportunity for Salem with them. In response to his dispatch he received the unwelcome news that plans and specifications had been accepted from Krumbein & Gilbert. He will, however, present his plans and specifications before the Commissioners today. The firm are the architects of the Capitol at Albany, N. Y., and other elegant buildings.

A number of dry goods boxes emptied of their contents led the public to believe that something new had just been opened, and upon closer inspection it was found that the boxes were addressed to J. O'Neil & Co., 95 First street, who had but a few moments before piled up in their store an extensive and varied stock of clothing, gentleman's furnishing goods, and clothe of fine texture for the manufacture of spring styles in gentlemen's and boys' clothing

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from

PORTLAND FIREMEN'S BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

In accordance with a call made for the purpose of organizing a "Firemen's Benevolent Association," a number of firemen, representing each company in the Department, were in attendance at the Hook and Ladder House, No. 1, on last Tuesday evening.

The meeting was called to order by C. A. Wheeler, of Hook and Ladder Co., No. 1, who stated "That the meeting had been called for the purpose of organizing in this city a Firemen's Benevolent Association, said organization to be composed of active and exempt members of the Portland Fire Department. The object of the association will be to protect the widow and orphans of a member; to watch over the sick and disabled members, and to pay such compensation to the same as might be deemed necessary."

On motion of F. W. Chambers, of Protection, No. 4, the meeting proceeded to form a permanent organization by selecting Joseph Reilly, of Multnomah, No. 2, as Temporary Chairman, and C. A. Wheeler as Temporary Secretary.

The Secretary then read the list of names that composed the charter membership of the Association, and on a motion the charter list was declared closed.

The election of the permanent officers, to serve for the ensuing six months, was next in the order of business, which resulted as follows: Joseph Reilly, of Multnomah, No. 2, as Eminent Counselor; F. W. Chambers, of Protection, No 4, as Vice Counselor; Chas. A. Wheeler, of Hook and Ladder, No. 1, as W. Secretary; J. F. Good, of Willamette, No. 1, as W. Treasurer. Eminent Counselor Reilly deferred the appointment of the remaining four officers until the next meeting.

The Constitution, for the government of the Association, was then read and adopted by sections.

The Secretary was instructed to furnish the daily papers with a copy of the proceedings of the meeting.

On a motion, the Association adjourned to meet at Nonpareil Hall on Sunday, May 18th, at two P. M., at which time and place the following charter members are requested to be present: C. A. Wheeler, F. Hornstrom, A. J. McCue, C. A. Vollum, B. Mayer, A. Dielschneider, W. G. Brown, Henry W. Dix, Chas. Schultz, J. F. Good, F. W. Chambers, A. B. Hallock, L. Dielschneider, T. Mathews, S. F. Wages on the Canada Pacific Railroad.

PORTLAND, May 12, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

SIR: In yesterday's issue of your paper, I observed an extract from the Olympia Standard of the 3d inst., in which it is stated that "a victim of the contractors of the Canadian Railway in British Columbia, had, with a number of others, in response to an advertisement for laborers, setting forth that ample wages would be paid, proceeded to Barrard Inlet, applied for work, and was told that $15 per month was the liberal compensation for the hard work expected of them," and that "some of the deluded victims having spent their money on the passage up, were at the mercy of the Company, and were compelled to accept the terms," etc., etc.

Will you kindly permit me to say that the above statement is without an atom of truth for the following reasons:

First—That up to the present time, the contractors have not advertised for laborers, the line of railway not yet having been decided.

Second—That the only work performed in British Columbia in connection with the C. P. R. R. has been the exploratory survey, the lowest wages to laborers on said survey being $45 per month, and board, from time of leaving Victoria until return, and all traveling expenses.

Your ob't servant,

WM. T. LEIGH.

Frederick B. Steck brings suit in a San Francisco court, to recover from Otto Rey and the Brown's Valley Consolidated Mining Company, three thousand shares of the stock of said company, rated at five dollars per share. The plaintiff alleges that on the 3d day of the present month, the said Rey, enticed him into his (Rey's) house, locked the doors upon him, placed a loaded pistol at his head, and compelled him, under threat of instant death, to transfer to him the three thousand shares of stock. All of which conduct the said plaintiff avers is exceedingly distasteful to him, and dangerous to vested rights of property.

PROTESTS WITHDRAWN.

A communication from S. G. Reed, withdrawing his protest against the proposed improvements of the intersection of First and North First streets, was read and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property reported adverse to the prayer of the petition of John Kiernan and others, asking a postponement of the improvement of North Thirteenth street, as the work had been commenced before the petition was presented. The report was adopted.

A SUIT FOR TAXES.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council—GENTLEMEN: I respectfully inform you that I have been served with an injunction, issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Multnomah county, restraining the collection of the delinquent assessments against the Oregon and California R. R., and that the hearing upon a motion to make said injunction perpetual, as filed, is set for Saturday, the 17th inst. I have delivered the papers to the City Attorney, and await your instruction.

J. H. LAPPEUS, Chief of Police.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following claims were ordered paid by warrants: Dilg & Tileson, $9 87; Thomas Tierney, $258 71; Willamet Iron Works, $21 21.

The bill of the Willamet Iron Works, $40 36, was referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Councilman Hallock appeared and took his seat.

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance adoting the report of the viewers in the matter of the extension and intersection of First and North First streets, was read a third time and passed.

An ordinance making an appropriation out of the fund arising from the sale of bonds, was read a third time and passed.

The ordinance providing for the improvement of B street, was referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property, with instructions to report amendments.

RESOLUTION TO EMPLOY COUNSEL.

Councilman Story offered the following:

Resolved, That the Committee on Ways and Means be authorized to employ some suitable attorney to defend the City of Portland and J. H. Lappeus in the case of the Oregon and California Railroad Company vs. the City of Portland and J. H. Lappeus, now pending in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon.

The resolution was adopted after some discussion.

On motion the Council adjourned.

Guild's Signal.

[Bret Harte, in the Chicago Tribune, celebrates William Guild, the engineer of the train which, on the 19th of April, plunged into Meadow Brook, on the line of the Bennington and Providence Railroad. It was his custom, as often as he passed his home, to whistle an "all's well" to his wife. He was found, after the disaster, dead, with his hand on the throttle valve of his engine.]

Two low whistles, quaint and clear,
That was the signal of the engineer—
That was the signal that Guild, 'tis said—
Gave to his wife at Providence,
As through the sleeping town, and thence,
Out in the night,
On to the light,
Down past the farms, lying white, he sped!

As a husband a greeting, scant, no doubt,
Yet to the woman looking out,
Watching and waiting no serenade,
Love song or midnight roundelay
Said what that whistle seemed to say;
"To my trust true,
So love to you"
Working or waiting, good night!" it said.

Brisk young bagmen, tourists fine,
Old commuters along the line,
Brakemen and porters glanced ahead,
Smiled at the signal, sharp, intense,
Pierced through the shadows of Providence—
"Nothing amiss—
Nothing"—It is Only Guild calling his wife," they said.

Summer and Winter, the old refrain
Rang o'er the billows of ripening grain,
Pierced through the budding boughs o'erhead,
Flew down the track when the red leaves burned
Like living coals from the engine spurned;
Sang as it flew:
"To our trust true,
First of all, duty—good night!" it said.

And then, one night, it was heard no more
From Stonington over Rhode Island shore,
And the folk in Providence smiled and said,
As they turned in their beds, "The engineer
Has once forgotten his midnight cheer."
One only knew,
To his trust true,
Guild lay under his engine, dead.

Rochester nurserymen say the season has been very unfavorable for the early packing and shipping of trees.

A New Orleans paper has made a horrible April fool joke on the distorted and terribly broken body of B. Russ Elscarpette.

Whenever a reporter finds a policemen asleep he considers it a piece of legitimate police snooze and prints it accordingly.

A man in Iowa wishes each of the "Chase Wife" to send him $2 for information. He hopes thereby to get his share of the fortune.

Since the Minnesota snow began to tone down a little, several railroad trains have come in, two months and a half behind time.

A young lady fainted when told that over 500,000 men died last year, but was revived by the information that there was 13,000,000 left.

"The war has been over eight years!" says an exchange, "but this spring's crop of old army overcoats comes up bluer and more bountiful than ever."

A Parisian philosopher has just died leaving the following testament: "It is my will that any one of my relatives who shall presume to shed tears at my funeral shall be disinherited. He who laughs most heartily shall be sole heir."

Captain Dunmit, owner of the finest orange grove in the United States, if not in the world, lives with his daughter in a board shanty of one room, with two or three wooden chairs in the line of luxurious furniture, and a well-worn copy of Byron and numbers of the Gentleman's Magazine, ranging from 1790 to 1801, by way of literature.

At a meeting to make arrangements for the St. Patrick's day parade there was an excited discussion about the length and course of the route. During a momentary lull a delegate said to the gentleman nearest him: "I suppose, Mr. Connelly, you'll walk on the 17th." "Walk, is it?" replied Mr. Connelly, "Faith, I'll walk if I can get a horse."

The Shah of Persia, who is an excellent horseman, has made a special request to the Emperor of Austria for an international hunting party during his visit to the Vienna exhibition. The Emperor, it is said, acquiesces in the suggestion, and courtly invitations are about to be sent out to all the European courts asking royal personages to participate in the sport.

Madame Nilsson, says the Standard, has refused an offer of 60,000 francs for two weeks' performances at the Berlin Opera House. Patriotism is assigned as the reason for this refusal to sing in the capital of the conqueror of poor France. A Russian nobility has been offered to Mr. Strakosch to marry the lady from her American engagement.

It is related of Arnauld, the Jansenist, that he wished his friend Nicole to assist him in a new work. Nicole replied: "We are now old; is it not time to rest?" "Rest!" exclaimed Arnauld, "have we not all eternity to rest in?" Dr. Samuel Miller says: "There is no doubt that the premature dotage of many distinguished men has arisen from their carrying on, in advanced life, to exert their faculties, under the impression that they were too old to engage in any new enterprise of industry."

An instance of abstraction or bullism is related of a Cork gentleman who, on calling on a lady, was told by the servant that her mistress was not at home. As he turned to go out, he caught a glimpse of the lady's head in a mirror through a half-opened door. An hour after he called on another friend, and told the lady there. "I have just been to your house," said he, "but had not the pleasure of seeing you." "Indeed! I'm so sorry! But I went out in great haste on business." "Ha, ha! you're joking, that you left your self behind you, for I saw it in the glass." "Did you? It is very possible; I am so absent-minded."

Mr. Nilsson, at her farewell benefit in St. Petersburg, received, among other splendid gifts, a pair of ear-rings, emeralds surrounded with diamonds, valued at 12,000 francs; a crown of laurel leaves, in pure gold, valued at 15,000 francs; a number of bouquets, among them one with a gold ribbon, on which were engraved the words "Return soon," and another one with a silver ribbon, on which the word "Remember" was enamelled with blue; and lastly, during the last interval a garland of flowers was delivered to her on the stage to which was an address signed by more than a thousand persons of the highest grades of society. This address was in a frame of gold with diamonds, three of which hung in the shape of teardrops from the word "Adieu," written in rubies and sapphires.

Setting their Deserts.

The Congressmen who violated the Constitution by voting themselves back pay and increasing the salary of the President and Vice-President for a term after they had been elected, are receiving a general salting from the honorable part of the American press. No act of Congress in the history of the country has excited such universal indignation among the people. Some opinions from the Eastern press will bear repeating here. "Chief Justice Chase," we are told by one paper, "thinks the Democrats will carry the next congressional elections, if they throw overboard the men in their own party who voted for the back salary steal, and run candidates pledged to the repeal of the infamous measure." In the Second Illinois District, General Farnsworth donated his share of the back pay to his district. But so obnoxious does the matter seem in the eyes of all honest men there, that the Rockford Register declares "they want nothing to do with it in any form;" and the Treasurer of Winnebago county is advised not to receive that county's share of what the Register bluntly calls "a theft." "We wish," it says, "that Farnsworth had never brought the money into this district." A Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, tells an anecdote about it which shows that even Credit Mobilier Ames was ashamed of his vote on the question. "After voting for the previous question," he says, "Niblack of Indiana, as he passed Ames, remarked: "So, Ames, you go for the increase?" "Yes," replied the man of the greasy wallet, "it dont hurt me, you know. I have nothing to lose now, but confidentially, Niblack, this is a bigger steal than the Credit Mobilier." "How so?" queried Niblack. "Well," said Ames, "the men who had that did pay a little something, but this is all steal." How nearly the truth this remark was one may see by the figures given in our dispatches of the 5th instant, showing the number of Congressmen who paid back the amount voted them. The whole number is twenty-seven; the whole amount paid back is $111,000. There are in all seventy-four Senators, two hundred and forty-three Representatives and seven Delegates in Congress, making a total of three hundred and twenty-four. If twenty-seven members were overpaid $111,000, the average of overpay is $1,111 to each member. The aggregate of steal to all the members would therefore be three hundred and twenty-four times $1,111, or $1,331,964. From which deduct the $111,000 paid back by the twenty-seven honest members and we have the net sum of the steal $1,220,964; the average of each member's share being $4,111.

But the members are not yet done paying back their share of the steal. The papers and their urgent constituents will give them no rest. Everywhere they are being goaded by such posters as the following, which we find in the Missouri Democrat copied from a journal of the Sixth Congressional District of that State, which is represented by Harrison E. Havens:

We are unable as yet to report that Hon. H. E. Havens, member of Congress from the Sixth District, refuses to receive the back pay adjust'd voted by Congress.

The "if" implies that the notice will be left standing till forbid by Havens, who cannot forbid it in decency till he disgorges his share of the steal. We may remark that Havens is a Republican member, and that the journal thus posting him is an influential Republican paper.—Sac. Union.

Some forty years ago a young man from this county went to Boston, wearing his father's boots. As soon as he had earned money enough he bought himself a pair of boots and returned his father's. He is now president of a Boston bank.—Biddeford, Me., Times.

And now this will be copied into all the country exchanges, and directly the city will be overstocked with young rustics, wandering about in their father's boots, and visions of bank offices will loom up before them like certainties.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, May 14, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 110¼.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85½ buying; 86¾ selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 12s 1d; club, 12s 2d.

There can be no doubt but that a general disposition is manifest in the cities of the Atlantic coast towards a better condition in financial matters. Henry Dieus & Co.'s banking house circular of date April 28th says that for several weeks a generally freer and more healthy movement in all branches of business may be expected. From the same circular we extract the following:

In Wall street, the effect will naturally appear in an improved demand for investment securities, and possibly, also in higher prices for the speculative stocks. The general trade of the country is in a condition to respond quickly to any ameliorations of this character. Business has been restrained, and operations which have been postponed from the unfavorable condition of the money market, will now be actively undertaken. As a rule, the condition of the farming and mercantile interests is prosperous. Deficit crops, in other countries, have enabled us to realize high prices on a large exportable surplus of grain and animal products, the effect of which is apparent in an increase of $40,000,000 in the value of exports from this port since January 1st. Our Cotton crop, amounting to between 3,800,000 and 4,000,000 bales, has been marketed, thus far, at high prices, considering the extent of the crop, and may be expected to contribute materially to the recuperation of the cotton-growing sections of the South. These substantial advantages cannot fail to tell favorably on the future course of business, and should be allowed their proper weight as an offset to the scarcity of coin which have arisen from the unhealthy condition of the Money market.

The Wool Market.

A telegram from London of the 24th ult., says 200,000 bales of Wool were offered at auction. English and Continental buyers were numerous and the market was active, closing same figures as March sales. At Philadelphia, April 26th, prices continued to rule somewhat irregularly at current quotations. New York mail advices of the same date say the market opened in the middle of the week with a brisk demand from both manufacturers and speculators, and since then about 1,000,000 have changed ownership. Nothing could be said in favor of prices, as in some cases the regular market value was accepted. Sales were reported of 800,000 lbs Oregon, 50 bales old X Pulled, 100,000 lbs California do, 10,000 lbs Spring do, and 134 bales do and Oregon—all on private terms. We clip the following from the United States Economist of April 25th:

The low price at which Wools of all descriptions (apart from combing) have been selling recently have greatly attracted the attention of manufacturers and dealers. But, while the former are cautious, the latter are extremely so, and refuse to enter into speculation except where there is an opportunity presented of placing Wools forthwith sold. That Wool is looked as dangerous an article to handle as railroad or mining stocks is proved by the experience of the past six months; and, although the fall in prices has been rapid and violent beyond all precedent, still it is not easy to convince the trade as yet that all Wools have found their lowest level. It is true that Texas and California Wools have been held for a year or two at intrinsically high prices as beyond a doubt, but they have finally found a level that will inspire manufacturers and the trade with greater confidence and safety in the purchase of them. Stocks are now much reduced.

Miscellaneous.

Official returns made to the Bureau of Statistics show that fifty-three vessels of an aggregate tonnage of 16,000, belonging to the port of Boston, were lost during the quarter ending March 31, 1873. Among the vessels lost were seven barks of 300 tons each, and ten brigs and ten schooners of 100 tons each. The loss of such a large number of vessels belonging to a single port and in such a brief period is unprecedented.

According to the statistics of the State Board of Equalization there are over 8,500,000 acres of the best agricultural land in the State of California held by a few over 600 persons. This is an average of about 17,000 acres to each. The value of these lands are estimated by the Board at $32,550,802.

The Olympia Courier says: "With the decadence of iron ship building our own state will come in the ascendant, and by the time the Northern Pacific Railroad has become the highway for the Asiatic trade, the shores of this great inland sea (Puget Sound) will be dotted with numerous dock-yards, public and private, and its forests will supply the timber; the mountain ranges, only an hour's journey away, the iron and copper for the construction, and the immense coal basin, extending from the Cowlitz Mountains on the south to the British line on the north, the fuel for the warming and propulsion of a fleet that shall crowd the harbors of every country in both hemispheres."

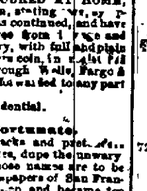
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,
623 KEARNEY STREET,
SAN FRANCISCO.



DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with four new remedies for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated faces and forms and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation, thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies that they can be cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Dr. GIBBON, a physician who has made the study of private diseases his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who flood all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Sexual Weakness.

Sexual Exhaustion, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, so prevalent among individuals, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of water, and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the heart, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, general restlessness, cough, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent inability. If relief is not obtained should appear immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating the disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred vow of stability resting upon them, but delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON'S CERTIFICATE is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance can be CURED AT HOME, by corresponding with Dr. GIBBON, stating their symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from observation and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars in coin, in a letter through the Post-office or through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with big puffs and no certificates, dupe the unwary victim of the above named doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are frauds and become too lazy to work at their trade. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, peddlers, barbers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many dollars. Do not be advertising physicians in sight who copy the names of the above gentlemen, there by so safely intrusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon will not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will refer persons who may call at his office or write to his ability to cure that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultation FREE.
